MEMORANDUM

APRIL 29, 2010

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

United Rotary Brush Corporation is pleased to announce the acquisition of American Rotary Broom. This acquisition continues United Rotary Brush Corporation's commitment to providing the industry's best value through its customer service, innovation, quality products, market competitive pricing, and people.

According to Rod Savage, CEO of United Rotary Brush Corporation, "American Rotary Broom is an extraordinary company that has consistently offered the highest level of individualized customer service as well as environmentally friendly products. This transaction represents a tremendous outcome for all parties involved. We welcome ARB's customers, employees, and the Wagner and Baeskens families to our team and look forward to supporting ARB's growth."

Jim Wagner, President of American Rotary Broom, "When we decided to sell our family business, we looked no further than United Rotary Brush Corporation. United Rotary Brush has been a strong competitor for years, and as a family run business, they share and exhibit the same family values of integrity and honesty upon which we have built our business and to which our customers and employees have grown accustomed. Therefore, United Rotary Brush was the obvious choice for American Rotary to partner with for the future. The ARB team looks forward to working with Rod Savage and the United Rotary Brush team in continuing to provide quality products and services to our customers and new markets."
